SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES & BENEFITS

At State of the Net 2022, we'll dive into the most pressing policy issues. Congressional and federal leaders will engage with stakeholders on issues such as broadband, consumer privacy, content moderation, election security, artificial intelligence, and many more.

As always, State of the Net will be your first look at the new players and the new issues that will take center stage in 2022. This conference is unique for its diverse blend of perspectives and provocative thinkers. As policy debates become more polarized, State of the Net is the most important stakeholder gathering which brings together key players who disagree (respectfully). That's the point.

The State of the Net Conference attracts more than 700 attendees (in person at Convene, 600 14th St., NW, and online), which provides unparalleled opportunity for your company to demonstrate leadership, network with policymakers, and engage an influential audience on key Internet policy issues. This conference, the largest Internet policy conference in the U.S., enables the dialogue between public interest advocates, nonprofits, and the business community toward the goal of educating policymakers about the importance of mobile technology in promoting communications, commerce and democracy. Sponsors of the State of the Net use this opportunity to elevate their brand and visibility as leading Internet stakeholders.
